GLOBAL QUALIFICATIONS

SQA Approved Centre
Scottish Qualifications Authority

LCCI GQ's Hospitality Programme Quality Assured by SQA
Advanced Diploma in Hospitality Management
End Term Examination (Sample Format 1)

Date:		Course Name:	Account & Mathematics for Hospitality
Duration:	2.5 Hours	Course Code:	HH46 04
Total Marks:	60	Pass Marks:	24

Instructions to the Students

1. Students are required to answer all the questions in their own words as far as possible. Any copying and sharing of information is strictly prohibited and will result in disqualification.
2. On the answer booklet, you must clearly identify the question number you are attempting. Use blue or black ink.
3. Before leaving the examination room, you must return this question paper along with your answer booklet to the Invigilator. If you do not, you may lose all the marks for this paper.

Group A
Attempt all questions

1. Answer True or False 5 X 2 marks = 10 Marks
   a. Accounting is only concerned with the financial transactions that occur in a business.
   b. The ledger is known as the primary book of accounts.
   c. The trial balance is prepared to ensure that the accounts are balanced before preparing financial statements.
   d. Purchase return book records goods that have been bought on credit but are later returned.
   e. The income statement includes a calculation of both gross profit and net profit.

Question Development From
Unit: Introduction to Accounting (Unit 1), Ledger (Unit 4), Trial Balance (Unit 5), and Subsidiary Books (Unit 6)

Group B
Attempt any five questions

1. Give brief answers with examples where appropriate 5 X 6 marks = 30 Marks
   a. Define and differentiate between single-entry bookkeeping and double-entry bookkeeping systems.
   b. Explain the purpose of a purchase book and provide an example relevant to a hotel.
   c. Describe the format and purpose of a three-column cash book.
   d. Explain the concept of bank reconciliation and how it helps in maintaining the accuracy of financial records.
   e. List the features and importance of subsidiary books and explain when they are used in hotel accounting.

f. State the column (debit or credit) in which the following would appear in a trial balance:
   - Capital
   - Wages
   - Rent Received
   - Furniture
   - Discount Allowed

Question Development From
Unit: Record of Transactions and Journal (Unit 3), Cash Book (Unit 7), Bank Reconciliation (Unit 8), Subsidiary Books (Unit 6), and Trial Balance (Unit 5)

Group C

Attempt any one question.

1. Show your understanding with explanation and calculations 1 X 20 marks = 20 Marks
   a. Your hotel buys cleaning supplies worth £50 on credit. Prepare the necessary journal entries for this transaction and explain the impact of this transaction on the accounting equation. Refer to the classification of accounts and the rules of debit and credit.
   b. Using the following information for the year ending 31st December 2024, prepare the Profit and Loss Account for your hotel:
      - Gross Profit: £2,500
      - Rent Paid: £350
      - Salaries: £900
      - Depreciation on Equipment: £100
      - Interest Paid: £40
      - Rent Received: £250
      - Miscellaneous Income: £120
      - Discount Allowed: £60
      - Repairs & Maintenance: £90
      - Advertising: £80
      - Commission Paid: £50
      - Also, explain the differences between Gross Profit and Net Profit, and calculate the Net Profit for the year.

Question Development From
Unit: Hotel Accounting System (Unit 2), Record of Transactions and Journal (Unit 3), Unit: Hotel Accounting System (Unit 2), and Income Statement (Unit 9)

*Best of Luck****